Don't Judge a Book by its Cover

Tuesday, April 27, 2010
The Fort Garry - 222 Broadway

ABOUT THE SESSION

Picture this: You're in hiring mode and looking for the ever-elusive "perfect fit" for your vacant position. You get lots of CVs...but no one looks perfect. You interview several people...and the candidate with the 'best' work experience had the 'worst' personality. Or maybe you hired a supposed superstar, but it turned out they were all talk and no action. Sound familiar? Wondering how you can differentiate the gold from the fool's gold? Backed by her experience as Senior Vice President of KCI's Search practice, Tara George will share best practices and methodologies for spotting ideal candidates both "on paper" and through interviewing. This interactive workshop will arm you with both theory and practical processes for reviewing CV's, interviewing, and making good hiring decisions.

THE SPEAKER

Tara George, MBA, CFRE
Senior Vice President & Lead Search Consultant
KCI (Ketchum Canada Inc.)

As the Lead Consultant for KCI's Search Practice, Tara George has successfully recruited leaders and fundraisers for a wide variety of Canadian charities and non-profit institutions. She also supports clients in the areas of organizational development and staff development. Prior to joining KCI in 2007, Tara spent a decade in fundraising and advancement leadership positions in the education sector.

A committed volunteer and proponent of professional development, Tara has played active roles in AFP, CCAE, and CAGP. Tara is the Chair of the Essentials of Fundraising program and a member of the Education Committee for AFP Greater Toronto chapter, and she sits on both the Advisory Committee and the Curriculum Committee for Ryerson University's Fundraising Management certificate program.
